ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The contemporary global order is undergoing profound change. Geopolitical shifts, technological revolutions, climate uncertainties, and economic restructuring are collectively redefining power, prosperity, and leadership. In this unsettled global arena, India's youthful population emerges as a decisive force capable of shaping not only the nation's internal development but also its external influence. Whether the vision of Viksit Bharat becomes a lived reality or remains a distant aspiration depends on how effectively the country converts youthful ambition into institutional capacity, policy innovation, entrepreneurial energy, and ethical leadership.

India today stands at a historic crossroads. It is a nation shaped by ancient civilizational wisdom and powered by the energy of one of the youngest populations in the world. With more than two-thirds of its citizens below the age of 35, India's youth are not only inheritors of the future but also its primary architects. The national vision of 'Viksit Bharat' by 2047 rests majorly on the shoulders of this vibrant and dynamic generation. Their ideas, values, aspirations, and actions will determine how meaningfully India transforms itself over the next two decades. The proposed International Conference seeks to engage deeply with this transformative moment. Anchored in powerful ideas such as 'India's Youth as Architects of a New Global Order', 'From Aspiration to Action: Youth Driving Viksit Bharat', and 'Viksit Bharat Is Not a Dream but a Deadline', the conference would offer a scholarly and policy-driven platform to reflect on the urgency, responsibility, and promise embedded in India's youth-led transformation. The year 2047 is not merely a symbolic milestone marking a century of independence; it represents a collective national commitment to inclusive growth, technological leadership, ecological balance, and social empowerment for everyone.

By bringing together scholars, policymakers, youth leaders, entrepreneurs, development practitioners, and students from India and abroad, the conference aims towards a meaningful dialogue on how young minds and bold visions can be translated into tangible national outcomes. The discussions will locate Viksit Bharat within India's global aspirations- especially its leadership role in the Global South, while remaining deeply rooted in local realities, social equity, and democratic participation. This multidisciplinary Conference thus seeks to bridge vision with action, and aspiration with institutional transformation.
