Two Day Symposium (Sparsh Ganga) in Collaboration with IQAC

In Collaboration with

Department of Environment, Government of India

Sparsh Ganga Abhiyan is the first such campaign in the country, which educate the students and awakens the people of the country towards the protection and conservation of Ganga Cleanliness. Shyam Lal College (University of Delhi) IQAC in collaboration with Sparsh Ganga organised a two days symposium joined by the Eco Club and NSS of our college (3-4th Sep 2019) Nature Drive: Revive- Rejuvenate rivers. On the First day (3rd September 2019) the chief Guest of this symposium MS Arushi Nishank, founder of Sparsh Ganga address the gathering and encouraged the students to show more commitment to protect the nature and took some time in today's busy schedule and cleans the rivers in their vicinity as rivers are getting polluted day by day. Several activities were organized during the symposium. On the second day "A Basic Training on Gardening" was given by our Principal Prof. Rabi Narayan Kar to the students and encourages them to develop skills in gardening as well as give first-hand experience with nature. This knowledge-based session on gardening was wonderful and exciting which not only improved the learning of the students about ecology and the environment but also feel them real-life experiences.

A plantation drive was also held in the campus, in which Ms. Arushi Nishank herself took part. Students also participated in plantation drive and took pledge to safeguard the saplings as they grew. The NSS and Eco club jointly had conducted a manifold of extra-curricular activities ranging from Inter College Innovative Idea competition, Photograph, Poster and Rangoli making, Street play, Dragonfly, Bird watching, Spotting of plants and flowers, Gardening accessories fair. Around 300 students participated in these activities with zeal and zest.
