Report on Inter college Millets Exhibition

In 2023, the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) declared it the International Year of Millets, following a proposal from India. In recognition of this, Shyam Lal College (DU), in collaboration with SARASWATI IKS CENTRE and IQAC, organized a program named Bharatiya Bhasha Utsav. This event featured various activities, one of which was dedicated to promoting the consumption and cultivation of millets. These activities highlighted the resilience and environmental benefits of millets, which are perfectly suited to India's climate and soil conditions. As part of this initiative, a competition was organized, in which our Eco-club team participated and excelled, secured the first, second, and third prizes. Demonstrating exceptional creativity, the team prepared healthy and tasty millet-based dishes and set up attractive stalls. They also enlightened teachers and students about the nutritional value of millets. A total of 12 students participated in this successful event, highlighting the importance of millets in sustainable agriculture and food security. Below are the pictures showing how students participated.
