Title- “A Rendezvous with the World of Animation”

- ❖ Webinar on “A Rendezvous with the World of Animation” was organized by department on September 30,2021. Animation is the technique that is used for the generation of the animated images by the computer using graphics. The resource person was Dr. Jagmohan Rai, Associate Professor, PGDAV College. The program commenced with a warm welcome followed by a welcome address by Principal, Prof. Rabi Narayan Kar. He emphasized the importance of exceling the knowledge of animation into real life applications. Prof. Kusha Tiwari, Coordinator, IQAC also suggested for workshop on animation for the benefit of students. Dr. Jagmohan Rai explained that animation is done by moving the images according to the persistence of the vision of the human because the fast image creates the illusion of the moving images at the rate of twenty fifth of the second. He said basically there are two types of computer animation: 2D animation and 3D animation. In 2D animation the animation is done by using the pencil. And this depends on the mood, feel, reaction, and thinking of the actor. This animation can be done in various methods and they are analog computer animation, flash animation, and power point animation. Another is 3D animation in which three planes are involved in the animation and picture looks like the real one. This animation can be done in various ways and they are photo realistic animation, cell shaded animation, motion capture. He elucidated animation making has many applications in multimedia area like Mickey Mouse Cartoon. It is also applicable in movies making. It is useful for making business advertisement based on the cartoons. This is art of communication for the internet world. It is used in graphics and the designing of the web page. Around 110 students attended the seminar with great zeal and enthusiasm.
