On 8th March, 2025, the annual cultural fest Nexus '25 lit up the campus of Sri Venkateswara College, University of Delhi, with a vibrant celebration of talent, creativity, and artistic expression. Among the many events hosted, Art Bound—an exclusive art competition—stood out as a space where imagination met technique on the canvas.

Representing the Fine Arts, Photography, and Culture Society (FPCS) of Shyam Lal College, Sakshi Jha captivated the audience and judges alike with her thought-provoking artwork, ultimately earning the 3rd Position in the competition. Her piece seamlessly merged emotional depth with a bold visual narrative, embodying the spirit of the theme while adding a personal and innovative touch.

The competition saw participation from some of the most skilled student artists across Delhi University. Each participant was given a canvas and theme at the start, with a limited time to execute their ideas. Sakshi's ability to channel her creative instincts into a well-balanced and visually striking composition set her apart and earned her a place on the winners' list.

Judged on parameters like originality, thematic relevance, composition, and technique, Art Bound proved to be a challenging yet inspiring platform. Sakshi's performance highlighted not only her individual skill but also the growing presence and excellence of FPCS in the DU art circuit.

She was felicitated with a certificate of achievement and a prize, earning well-deserved recognition amidst enthusiastic applause. Her win added yet another proud chapter to the accomplishments of the FPCS family.
